

UNDERWOOD

Commercial Litigation

When business disputes arise, companies of all sizes – from large, publicly held companies to family businesses – have turned to our commercial litigators for decades. Underwood lawyers are highly skilled and efficient in both the prevention of and the navigation of complex commercial litigation, from single-issue injunction cases to hundred million dollar contract disputes. Underwood regularly handles a wide variety of breach of contract, fraud, and other general commercial litigation cases, as well as more-particularized areas of commercial litigation including, but not limited to: administrative, antitrust, arbitration, corporate risk management, stockholder derivative, ERISA, employment, noncompetition, trade secret, and regulatory litigation.

Whether you are a stockholder, director, officer, employer, employee, purchaser, seller, insurer, or contractor, Underwood offers the expertise necessary to protect your interest and insure resolution of your complex legal questions.
