

UNDERWOOD

Oil and Gas Litigation

The Underwood Law Firm has extensive experience in oil and gas litigation in both federal, state, and appellate courts. The production of oil, gas and other minerals is vital to the economic wellbeing of the states of Texas and Oklahoma and has been an important part of Underwood's law practice for many years. Common litigation issues involve not only interpretation and enforcement of oil and gas lease provisions, operating agreements and surface use agreements, but also title questions and interpretation of mineral conveyances.

Underwood attorneys regularly appear before the trial courts in all of the major Panhandle oil and gas producing counties and have participated in ground-breaking oil and gas cases decided by the Texas appellate courts.
